It was a kind of dark scance, in which the light of municipal countenances glimmered faintly upon the subject of the Memphis Nicolson pavement case, and the necessity of employing an eminent local lawyer to show the Washington attorneys how to manage the case The caucus lasted two hours, and, according to a youthful councilman, nothing was done. This is a sad commentary upon our city legislators. Bad —About half-past eleven o'clock last night a strange light was seen floating down the Mississippi river. In a short while another light was seen coming up the river, and the two met half-way be tween the wharf and the head of President's island. In less than ten minutes a large steamship ablaze with lights of different colors sped to the spot where the floating lights were seen. Then there was a loud explosion, the waters were divided, and the steamer plunged beneath the waves. Two objects of fire resembling the in-habitants of fabled realms were then seen dancing on the water. These soon disappeared having a blaze of light, and illuminating the gloom-draped sky with the name Momus, king of the carniva'. Several men went down to Fort Pickering and saw that the bluff was cracked open in one place down to the water under which an unearthly light was perceived. The bluff began to tremble and the men becoming frightened, hastened back to the city. Owing to the lateness of the hour and the ter rible nervousness of the affrightened adventurers, we are unable to give details, but will do so to-morrow.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN. In accordance with the mayor's call the board of aldermen met in the city hall at half past seven o'clock last night, Robbins, Dent, Davis, Hillsman, Doyle, Ball, Malatesta, present. On motion the board took a recess of ten minutes. READY FOR ACTION. The board upon reassembling was addressed by the mayor, who stated that the object of the meeting was to consider the Brown-Nicolson pavement case pending in the supreme court of the United States at Washington. He then addressed the board of aldermen in tho same manner that is reported in the proceedings of the general council con-

MR. WM. R. RANDOLPH'S PROPOSITION. This was fully set forth, being in substance that the ex-city lawyer asks a fee of $1500, and an additional mpensation of $2000 in case he saved the city $100,000 or more.

The resolution passed by the council authorizing the mayor to employ Mr. Randolph, was then read, and Mr. Davis moved to adopt it.

Mr. Malatesta asked the mayor if he had had any conversation with Mr. Randal had any conversation with Mr. Randal had any conversation with Mr. Randal had bad any conversation with -Chief Athy yesterday recovered The mayor said he might answer the question that he had, or that he had not. He, in company with two gentlemen, had met Mr. Randorph going home and requested him to be here. Mr. Ran-dolph was unwell and said he would not present, unless there was urgent Mr. Hillsman opposed the resolution. Mr. Randolph, if he had done his duty, would be able to make up his brief in an hour, and his visit to Washington shaped, the voracious mouth sweeping would only be to consult with the attorneys. The best of talent, at a large fee, was already engaged, and Mr. Randolph would only have to go to Washington and give information to the at-torneys engaged there. He was willing to give him a fee, but not a year's salary to tell only what he knew about the case. The sum of thirty-five hundred dollars was too much, and more than the salary of any judge in the State.

Every lawver he conversed with regarded the reduction of the judgment as cer-Mr. Robbins agreed with Mr. Hills-man, and said the case was worked up by the Washington attorneys. He op-posed the large fee, although he did not bject to Mr. Randolph co-operating with those attorneys.

Brown & Co. vs. the city of Memor three hundred thousand dollars, but this could not be proved unless Ran-dolph went to Washington and made a speech in the case. He complimented Mr. Randolph upon his integrity, inteligence and ability. The question was then voted on, and

ost. Aldermen Doyle, Davis and Ball voted for the resolution, and Aldermen Robbins, Malatesta, Dent and Hillsman against the resolution. ANOTHER PROPOSITION. Mr. Dent-moved that the city-attorney, G. A. Hanson, be sent to Wash-ington to attend to the matter. Mr. Malatesta objected to this, because Mr. Hanson could not be expressed on a egal mission outside of the State. The chairman agreed with Mr. Malatesta, and said the city attorney's duties were not outside the courts in Tennessee. It would require a special contract.

Mr. Malatesta moved to amend by authorizing the mayor to engage the services of Mr. Hanson. Mr. Davis opposed this. Mr. Hanson knew nothing about the case, which would be left undefended unless Mr. Randolph journeyed there. Mr. T. E. Brown, the plaintiff, did not expect to get the judgment, and had said that they wanted Mr. Randolph to keep away from Washington, Mr. Robbins said Mr. Randolph would not add six-and-three-quarter cents to the case. He had failed in it from the commencement, and he was unwilling to give Mr. Randolph thirty-five hun-dred dollars to go to Washington and hear the case argued. Mr. Malatesta agreed with Mr. Robbins, and said the lawyers had merely to examine the record, and could not go or evidence could be given. Mr. Dent opposed the payment of anything to Mr. Randolph to go to Washington. If Mr. Randolph was well posted he should not take advantage of the fact.

RESCIND THE ORDER. The chairman said it was necessary to escind the resolution, previously pass authorizing the mayor to employ Mr. On motion of Mr. Malatesta, the for-mer resolution was rescinded. Mr. Dent moved that the city attorney, or Messrs. Craft and Brown, be employed by the mayor to go to Washngton to attend to the case. Mr. Hillsman offered an amendment,

MECHANICS' SUPPLY-STORE. Proposition to Establish a Joint-Stock Mechanics' Supply-Store, with a Capital Stock of $10,000 or $20,000. EDITORS APPEAL-In many cities the mechanics and workingmen have formed joint stock companies, and established stores to furnish family supplies. Through the columns of your valuable paper I will suggest a plan to open one of these stores in Memphis. Let the mechanics and workingmen form a joint stock company with a capital of ten thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing the same to twenty thousand dollars. Let the shares be twentyfive dollars each, to be paid in monthly installments of two dollars and a half on each share. So soon as ten per cent. of the capital stock is paid in, let the company open a family grocery-store, and supply the stockholders with these articles at as near cost price as possible. Let each stockholder have credit to the amount of three-quarters of the amount paid on his stock, the association to have lien on his stock to the amount of said debt, all other sales to be cash. So soon as all the stock is paid up, let there be kept at this store all kinds of family supplies, including boots and shees, fresh meat, etc. An association of this kind would reduce the family expenses of each stockholder from fifteen to twen-ty per cent. for these articles. Let the nechanics and workingmen call a meeting to organize a family supply store. ECONOMY,
